

Outstanding Scoutmaster – Gregg Ohman

Advisor, teacher, and observer are attributes given to our next honoree. Scouting is his passion and he lives and breathes Scouting.

As one parent put it: He is a “true Boy Scout.”

He started as an adult leader in Cub Scouts. Even though his older son is no longer in Scouting, he continued on as Scoutmaster. He also is a den leader for his younger son.

He guides the boys to become confident in their abilities, morality, and character; and he truly enjoys watching his Scouts learn new things and grow in their abilities.

He brings a wealth of organizational skills to his job, and has streamlined the troop into a more functional, cohesive unit. And, he sees to it that activities are run by the boys.

Troop 477 can boast of this exceptional Scoutmaster, Gregg Ohmann.
