

Nira Rajan – Pack 283

Outstanding Cub Scout Committee Member

For her three years as Advancement Chair, this Scouter has welcomed new Scouts into the Pack with the appropriate handbook, neckerchief and patches, and ensures boys receive their timely recognition at Pack meetings. She is watchful about maintaining the badge and loop inventory and is a wise steward of Pack funds. She orients new families to the Pack and has done a great job of getting parents involved—the Pack's current Treasurer and Lion Den Leader are just two of her recruits. Whether assisting with the Lion den, helping other dens or members of the Pack committee, she makes Scouting fun and is loved by all.

For several years, she's served on the unit's camping committee, and is unofficial Camp Cook. When the Pack completed the Diversity Award, she celebrated with a delicious Sri Lankan feast for the entire pack—her meal was so popular, she did it again the next year. Aside from shoulder surgery this year, she is eager to cook again for 150 people at the spring campout.

The members of Pack 283 love Nira Rajan's cooking, her enthusiasm for the Scouts, and her way with people, making her an Outstanding Cub Scout Committee Member.
